European Journal of Neuroscience (EJN) & other publications

The European Journal of Neuroscience (EJN) is the official journal of FENS. It publishes papers on a broad range of topics, aiming to advance our understanding of the nervous system in health and disease.

Edited by Prof. John Foxe from the University of Rochester, EJN publishes original high-quality research articles and reviews in all fields of neuroscience. EJN also publishes Registered Reports, Editorials, Neuro-Opinions and timely Special Issues.

FENS | Federation of European Neuroscience Societies

⊙ EJN

- Open Science. Offers the best publishing experience with Open Access option, shared data and registered reports.

- Fast and easy submission process. No formatting requirements, articles published online rapidly.

- No submission fees and page charges, and no cost for online colour images.

- Constructive, fair and considerate transparent peer review on Publons.

- Visibility and impact of research. EJN papers are viewed over 1.2 million times per year and continue to be cited years after publication.

- Community support. EJN supports all FENS activities and offers FENS members free online access.

EJN is the official journal of FENS, published by Wiley. It supports the FENS community and its activities. FENS, EJN and Wiley also collaborate to support several research awards: FENS-EJN Award, FENS-EJN Young Investigator Prize and EJN Best Publication Award.
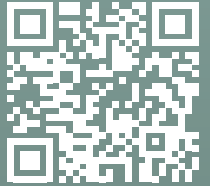

⊙ Other publications

In addition to EJN, FENS facilitates the dissemination of scientific information through a series of online resources, available to all.

On the FENS website, you can find a vast array of online materials, including position papers, training and career development materials and outreach and advocacy resources.

🐦 @EJNeuroscience

f @EJNeuro

Get involved!